Says

- ★Government policies play a crucial role in shaping the agriculture sector
- Climate change is affecting crop yields and patterns
- ★ Farmers struggle with access to modern technology and resources
- ★ Government officials state the need for sustainable farming practices

- ★ Farmers may adopt traditional practices due to limited resources
- ★Government agencies might provide subsidies to support farmers efforts
- Researches and scientists may develop drought-resistant crop varieties
- ★ Farmers adapt planting schedules based on weather forecasts

Think

- ★ Farmers might worry about unpredictable weather impacting their livelihoods
- Government officials might consider ways to balance food security and sustainable practices
- ★ Consumers could be concerned about food availability and prices
- Consumers could be concerned about food availability and prices

INDIA'S
AGRICULTURAL
CROP
PRODUCTION
ANALYSIS

- ★ Farmers might feel stress due to uncertain of outcomes and financial instability
- ★ Government officials could experience pressure to find solutions that benefit both farmers and the nation
- ★ Consumers might feel anxious about food quality and affordability
- Environmentalists feel concerned about ecological sustainability

